MAJOR JOB of guniting the Porterville community swimming pool in Murry park got under way Tuesday, as 20 Ands and PTA members of the Porterville area made plans for a house-to-house campaign, Monday evening, June 7, to raise sufficient funds to complete construction of the swimming pool. In the upper photo, Porterville Chamber of Commerce Manager Joe Elliott, ramrod behind the swimming pool project, talks things over with David Chamberlain, contractor, who is donating his services on the swimming pool job; lower, gunite, which is concrete applied under pressure, is shot onto the framework of steel reinforcing material to form walls and floor of the pool. HOUSE-TO-HOUSE DRIVE FOR COMMUNITY SWIMMING POOL FUNDS SET MONDAY

A concerted house-to-house drive for funds needed for completion of the Porterville Community Swimming pool will be conducted next Monday evening, beginning at 7:00 o'clock, by members of the Porterville 20 Ands and by representatives of PTA organizations throughout the Porterville elementary and high school districts.

BACCALAUREATE, GRADUATION AT STRATHMORE HI

The Rev. A. Luke Fritz will deliver the sermon, "Time, Talent and Goal," at Strathmore high school baccalaureate service that will be held Sunday evening, June 6, in the Strathmore Elementary school auditorium, beginning at 8:00 o'clock.

Strathmore high school graduation will be held on the school athletic field the evening of June 7, at 8:00 o'clock. Superintendent Gordon Axford will present diplomas; service club award will be presented by Harold Smith; Spartan Knights award by Phillip Lindgren; Strathmore Town and Country Club award by Mrs. E. E. Page and citizenship award by a representative of Porterville Post of the American Legion.

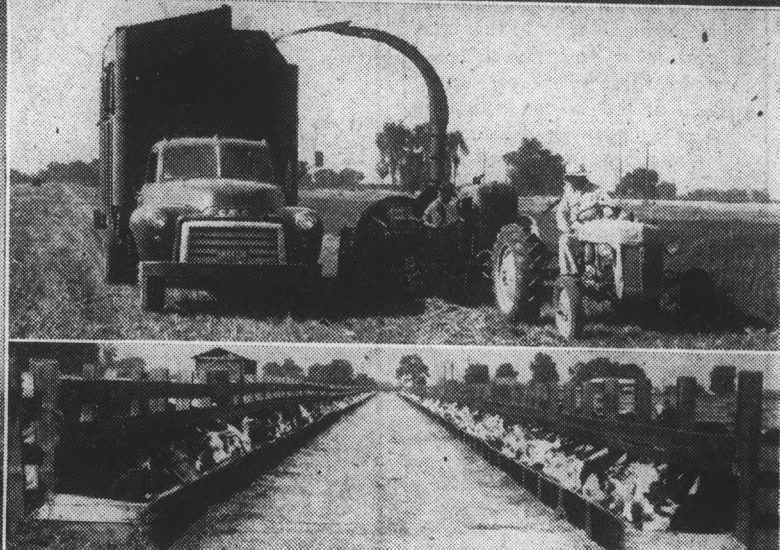

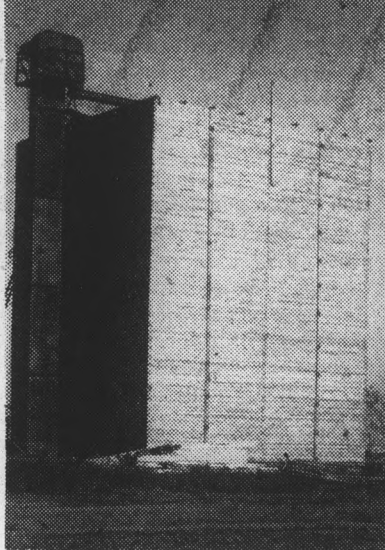

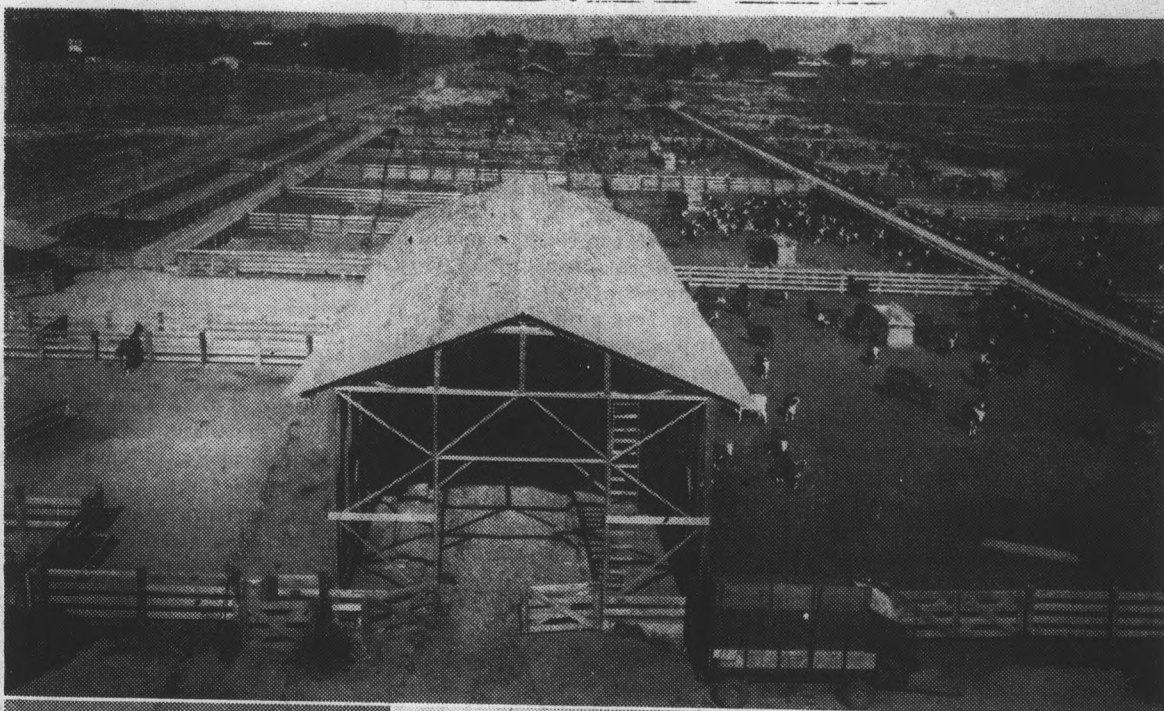

Three hundred workers will be in the field, with headquarters at the Porterville chamber of commerce office, where Murray Tanner, manager of the Porterville branch of the Security First National Bank of Los Angeles, will act as cashier.

All solicitors will wear identification badges and any questions that arise during the drive can be answered by a phone call to the Porterville chamber office, 286.

All money contributed during the drive will go to the swimming pool fund; publicity, car expense and similar items are being donated, it is stated.

Swimming pool workers hope that the Monday evening drive will be the last major drive necessary to raise sufficient money. About $10,000 is now needed in order to put water in the pool by July

Vacation Bible School To Open Monday, June 14

Annual union Vacation Bible school will again be held under the sponsorship of the Porterville Ministerial association, beginning Monday morning June 14 at 8:45, with Rev. B. J. Morford as general principal of the school.

Places for the various departments are the same as last year: 4-5 year olds, Congregational church; 1st and 3rd graders, Methodist church; 2nd and 6th graders, First Baptist church; 4th and 5th graders, First Christian church; 7th and 8th graders, Evangelical United Brethren church.

Departments are based upon the grades that children just recently concluded in the schools. School will be out each day at 11:25.

Buses will be operated as formerly, through the Porterville rural area; bus schedules will be announced next week.

GREEN CHOPPED FEED USED SUCCESSFULLY IN GUTHRIE RANCH BEEF CATTLE DEAL

A new, and perhaps revolutionary, method of feeding beef cattle is proving successful at feed lots operated by John Guthrie on his ranch northwest of Porterville, where green chopped alfalfa is being used as the feed base for some 1,800 head of pen-fed steers.

Use of green chopped forage as a supplement to other feeds is not uncommon in feed lot operation, but use of green forage as the base is the unusual feature of the Guthrie operation, which is the largest of its kind in the state, and probably the only operation of its type that is being conducted on a large-scale, commercial basis.

Three hundred twenty acres of alfalfa is supplying forage necessary to handle the 1,800 head of beef cattle over a period of six to seven months. The green-chopped alfalfa is brought by special truck that automatically pours the chopper forage into feed bins that extend along one side of the feeding pens.

Started in April of last year, the operation produced 960 pounds of beef per acre of alfalfa, with 4,000 head of cattle run through the lot in the first season. Records kept by the agricultural extension service, show that cost was 15 cents per pound of gain.

Supplementing green forage is hay in some pens and hay and barley in others. Mr. Guthrie states that steers fed on green chopped forage with hay supplement are put in excellent condition for dry-feed lots in from 30 to 200 days; he believes that by adding a barley supplement, steers can be finished to high good or low choice on the ration that he is feeding; a longer time may be required than in dry lots, but cost per pound, Mr. Guthrie believes, will be less.

Already, experience has shown that cattle conditioned under Mr. Guthrie's feeding plan do much better when put into dry lots for finishing than cattle brought in from either permanent pasture or range.

A feature of Mr. Guthrie's operation is that at least 95 per cent of the feed used in his lots comes from his own ranch. In addition to 320 acres of alfalfa, he is raising 700 acres of barley and is now planting 160 acres of corn, the latter for silage.

Mr. Guthrie is custom feeding in addition to feeding his own cattle. A recently constructed office and scale provides facilities for keeping exact records on amounts of feed in relation to weight gains in all pens on the lot.

Now nearing completion is a 32 x 32 40-foot-high grain storage bin that will hold 800 tons. Of laminated 2x4 and 2x6 construction, the four-section bin has in it 40,000 board feet of lumber.

Equipment installed in connection with the bin allows barley to be dry-rolled as it is loaded for feeding.

Six experiments are now being conducted by Mr. Guthrie under supervision of the University of

National, State, County, Local Election June 8

National, state, county and local candidates will be seeking the nod of voters in the California primary election, next Tuesday, June 8, with regular polling places open in all election precincts. Registered voters received sample ballots early in the week, also notification of where to vote.

On the local level, Dan Williamson, incumbent constable, is being opposed by James T. Lowrance and in the fifth supervisorsial district, John R. (Ray) Longley, rancher, is opposing Incumbent Paul Gerdes.

At the county level, considerable interest is centered in the race for county superintendent of schools, with Incumbent J. Post Williams, whose administration was severely criticized by two grand juries, opposed by Robert (Bob) Serbian, superintendent of Sunnyside school and a graduate of Porterville high school and college. Also in the race is Harvey McCammon, formerly in the office of the county superintendent.

For district attorney, Robert H. Haden is opposed by Louis L. LaRose. Mr. LaRose has served as assistant district attorney; Mr. Haden as public defender; Former District Attorney Robert K. Meyers was recently appointed superior court judge.

In the race for sheriff, Incumbent Sandy Robinson is opposed by a former deputy, Aaron D. Jones; for public defender, David Laughlin is opposing John Locke, and for county assessor, R. G. Clark, assistant county controller is running against Phil Lucas, chief deputy assessor who has the blessing of retiring assessor, George R.

CAMERA TIPS

VACATION PICTURES . . .

Vacation time means "picture taking" time. Although this is the best time of the year for taking pictures, we know from many years of experience that many of our friends and customers will run into some trouble with old Mr. Sun being too brilliant for some of the most likely shots, particularly beach scenes and fishing shots. Many cameras, especially box cameras, need a yellow filter over the lens to compensate for the added brilliance in this type of picture. You could make your own filter by merely taping a piece of yellow cellophane in front of your lens, or better yet, you might stop in our store and let us sell you the proper filter for your camera for a very little cost. It will more than pay for itself in better pictures during your vacation.

California at Davis and the agricultural extension service. Forty head of steers have been placed in each of six pens; base feed is a constant supply of green chopped alfalfa plus four pounds of ground hay; feeding period will be 120 days.

In pen No. 1, a half pound of barley per 100 pounds of live weight per day will be added to the base; in pen No. 2, a pound of barley will be added; in pen No. 3, a half pound of beet pulp plus a half pound of beet pulp; in pen No. 4, a half pound of barley plus aureomycin; in pen No. 5, one half pound of 41 per cent cottonseed meal; in pen No. 6, the check pen, only the base ration is fed.

A pen of 250 steers is being fed dry hay and barley, mixed half and half, and green chopped forage on a free choice basis; a pen of 200 heifers is being fed two pounds of beet pulp and four pounds of dry hay per day, in addition to all the green chopped forage they want.

A constant check is kept on rate of consumption in all feed lots, since intake of green chopped alfalfa varies considerably in relation to the weather—animals cutting down on hot days, then increasing their consumption when the weather cools.

Mr. Guthrie calls his operation a "controlled, glorified permanent pasture deal." He believes that by use of green chopped forage as a base, he can put cheaper gains on feed lot cattle, and he predicts that in the future, feed lot operators will more and more swing to chopped forage as a base, rather than a supplement.

When Mr. Guthrie started to use green chopped alfalfa, he hauled the forage to cattle on his foot-hill range. He decided that it would be more efficient to have the cattle closer to the feed, so last year he constructed his feed lot corrals.

Since little or no information was available on the methods that he proposed to use, he first experimented with a pen of 100 calves. When he found that his feeding ideas seemed to work out, he started to enlarge his operation into a commercial size.

And now, in addition to putting profitable gains on feed-lot cattle, he is also, through commercial experience and through his experimental pens, working out some of the answers for future use by the cattle industry.

Mr. Guthrie does not advise rushing into a small-scale cattle feeding deal. On the basis of his present experience, he says that a minimum number of cattle for an operation similar to his would be 350 head; he states that considerable investment in facilities, equipment and land is necessary

THE MOON IS BLUE, AND A GOOD TIME IS HAD BY ALL AT BARN THEATER

By Bill Rodgers

"The Moon Is Blue" at Porterville's Barn Theater, but not so the customers, for the F. Hugh Herbert comedy is loaded with laughs and a good time is had by all as Jeanne Hoerner, Bill Carpenter and Pete Tewksbury form an amusing and suggestive triangle atop the Empire State building and in a New York penthouse apartment.

If we were being overly critical, we might say that the play could sparkle just a little more, that perhaps Mrs. Hoerner does not quite come up to the part of Patty O'Neill. But we would also be the first to say that Mrs. Hoerner, a Barn newcomer, is a capable actress and certainly enjoyable to watch.

Mr. Tewksbury, in his farewell appearance at the Barn, is, as usual, excellent, and ditto for Bill Carpenter, who is, we are glad to note, not in his farewell appearance. Elton Hunt, veteran Barn character actor, appears briefly and bombastically to defend his wayward daughter, Patty, who is not really wayward at all.

Boy meets girl, in "The Moon Is Blue," boy takes girl to his apartment, middle-aged man appears with both honorable and not so honorable intentions, boy doesn't quite know what his intentions are, boy just about loses girl, but everything ends as it should.

That's the plot of the play, but Mr. Herbert writes it somewhat differently. In fact, he fills it with situations and lines that are funny, and provocative, and if you just sit back and enjoy it, you'll enjoy yourself.

Even if you shock easily, you'll enjoy yourself. Or maybe you'll enjoy being shocked. Or what we're trying to say is that "The Moon Is Blue" is a good comedy in order to get into a green-chopped forage deal; because of costs involved, he believes that a feeding operation of his type must of necessity be on something of a large scale to be profitable.

At present, five men are employed to operate Mr. Guthrie's feed lots, in addition to a girl in the office. Records on production of all fields, as well as records on cattle gains, are kept in the office to give a complete picture of the operation.

Heaviest load of cattle can be carried through the spring, summer and fall, when maximum feed production is coming from the land. Feeding of green-chopped alfalfa will, of necessity, be impossible during winter months when fields are not producing.

and we'll just bet that if you get yourself out to the Barn this weekend, your evening will be a pleasant one, and well worth the money.

THE OLD DAYS

From that date ownership and control of the Central Pacific and Southern Pacific properties were in the hands of the same men, Leland Stanford, Charles Crocker, C.

P. Huntington, Mark Hopkins, and their associates.

Although additional explorations and surveys had been made during 1869-70 over the proposed route from Gilroy through Pacheco Pass to the San Joaquin Valley, thence over the Tehachapi Pass to Los Angeles, and southeast through Gorgonio Pass as far as Phoenix, Southern Pacific had no definite route into Southern California until Congress on March 3, 1871, chartered the Texas Pacific Railroad Company, and authorized Southern Pacific to build south from Mojave, by way of Los Angeles, to a connection with the former at the Colorado river on the extreme southeastern boundary of California, probably at Fort Yuma. To provide for this additional construction, Southern Pacific amended its articles of incorporation and increased its capitalization.

During this period in which the Southern Pacific Railroad Company came into existence and had gained recognition as the western link in two, new transcontinental railroads, the Central Pacific was pushing forward extensions from its main line in California north into Sacramento valley and south into San Joaquin valley.

Following consolidation of the Central Pacific and Southern Pacific Railroad Companies, the engineering and construction forces worked interchangeably on the two lines, under supervision of S. S. Montague, chief engineer for the Central Pacific, and Col. Geo. E. Gray, who had been appointed chief engineer for the Southern Pacific.

Construction on the San Joaquin Valley line was started December 31, 1869, at Lathrop, a town located by the railroad's construction company on the main line between Sacramento and Oakland. About eleven miles was built during the first part of 1870 extending to the Stanislaus river (this was in the name of San Joaquin Valley Railroad). Track laying stopped at this point for a few months and work was not resumed until September, after the consolidations in August 1870.

From that point there was little delay in the railroad building and the line was pushed rapidly down the valley with much the same energy that characterized the memorable construction work of the year before when the great drive was in full swing toward junction with the Union Pacific at Promontory, Utah. Modesto, Merced and Fresno were brought into existence in the next two years and during the summer of 1872, the Central Pacific's line had reached the survey of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company at a point which was given the name of Goshen.

The construction company continued on without a stop, the only exception being that the work was now done under the name of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company instead of the Central Pacific. Goshen marked the most southern point of Central Pacific's railroad building in California, 146 miles from Lathrop.

Nothing but the most optimistic hopes could have prompted the Central Pacific men to build a railroad into San Joaquin valley. Records show that the great, broad plains were then practically unoccupied. Stanford and Hopkins rode over the upper section on horseback and camped out. For miles and miles they rode without seeing any signs of habitation except an occasional sheep herder's cabin. Between Lathrop and Los Angeles the only towns of importance near the route of the rail-

Twig Dieback Of New Growth Shows In Citrus

By Karl W. Opitz

Some orange groves in Tulare county are showing dieback of new growth. The trouble appears to affect weak trees more severely than those growing vigorously. Heavy leaf and flower drop seems to be associated with extensive dieback of twigs. This disease has been studied for several seasons but no single causal agent has been isolated. Several fungi have been associated with the malady.

Dr. William Stewart of the department of horticulture and Dr. Klotz of the department of plant pathology in the Citrus Experiment station are currently investigating this twig dieback. Twig, root, and soil samples have been obtained from affected trees for laboratory examination. Reports show that sections of southern California are likewise troubled with orange twig dieback.

Fly Control Is Demonstrated

Recommended sprays for control of flies in dairy barns were discussed recently at a meeting of dairymen at the Falconer ranch on west Olive street. J. E. Swift, entomologist from the University of California presented information on control methods.

FINS FOR FEATHERS

By Phil The Forester

June is a reminder that the first of California's hunting seasons will open next month, July 24, for deer and black bear in the coastal area for the bow and arrow fraternity.

This year for the first time, archers will not be discriminated against. They buy one hunting license and one set of deer tags for their pregun archery deer season, and then they may also participate in the gun season, either with gun or continue with bow and arrow.

The archery deer and bear season in the coastal area will continue through August 2 and the pre-season in the Sierra district will be from September 11 to 20 inclusive. In addition to this, the archers have been provided with a special "either sex" deer season in portions of Los Angeles county

THE VET SEZ

By Dr. Charles S. Crane

Is there anyone here who doesn't think the recent Junior Livestock Show and Fair was an outstanding affair all the way around? Perhaps a grunt from the contingent whose prime purpose in attending a fair is the "burleycue" in the midway. (There must be a place for them, but the last one around here folded quite a while ago, I think.)

A large hussah, I say, for all concerned with the fair and a long, happy life so that they may give us more and more such shows.

Every once in a while, someone will say, "Look at this one, Doc, and tell me what's wrong."

You get a passing view of the animal and in the length of time it takes to reply without creating a void in the conversation you are supposed to mentally catalogue all that is seen in the glance into the exact thing that is wrong.

from July 24 to December 31. This is generally known as the Malibu area where there is a heavy population of people (and deer too) but guns are considered dangerous.

All of California is now open to trout fishing excepting a few special closures, mostly for the purpose of allowing the wild trout to spawn.

Many limits of catfish are being taken from Shaver Lake where catchable size put and take trout are planted every week or ten days.

In Fresno county, Doris and Tule lakes have dropped off from their early season big trout production but some nice fish are still being taken in these waters, especially from Doris.

Over in the Mendota — Firebaugh area, bluegill, crappie and black bass fishing has been good in the Mendota Pool and irrigation canals, also some catfish being taken. Lots of frogs in that area. As a matter of fact there appears to be a good crop of frogs over the entire valley. Mexican tree ducks have put in their first Mendota appearance.

Down Kern county way, the Kern river has been high and muddy although trout fishing has been fair on the White river and Alder and Cedar creeks.

Trout fishing generally in Merced county has been poor in high water. However, some nice fish are being taken from the Tuolumne river in the vicinity of Jacksonville.

In Stanislaus county, water high and fishing poor with some striped bass and small catfish being taken.

Abalone and clam diggers will find minus tides this week.

The grunion season opened June 1 with grunion run tides scheduled for June 2, 3, 4 and 5.

My friends and fellow citizens today is the last time I will come to you by newspaper before the election, June 8.

Those of you that have followed me each week in my column know that I have put on a clean campaign — I have first of all put on a clean campaign because I will never go out and degrade myself before the public by smearing my fellow citizen for political gains.

A smear of this kind is in my opinion ten times worse than stealing money.

I have financed all of my campaign myself and I do not owe any one a political debt — and I am not under any obligations to any group or organization of any kind.

If you feel that sixteen years in office is long enough for one man — a man that is at the retirement age — then give a younger man a chance to give you honest and faithful service.

I can and I will give you the service you are paying for — I will not lounge around on the taxpayers' money for four years, then come out and ask you to reelect me again.

I want to thank all of the wonderful citizens in this district for all they have done for me in my campaign. I have a lot of respect for all of you who have tried to help a veteran who is trying to make a better future for himself.

Your encouragement and your kindness will make you forever great with me — and your vote will merit my highest appreciation — all of you have been wonderful and I owe you a great debt of gratitude. Thank you and God bless you forever.

GIVES UNSOLICITED ENDORSEMENT OF

Louis L. La Rose For District Attorney

- ◆ The District Attorney's Office is the most important Law Enforcement medium in this county and should have the most competent person performing its duties.
- ◆ I think Louis LaRose is that person.
- ◆ He is entirely familiar, by training and experience, with the duties of the office and is properly equipped to fulfill them. I believe he is mentally, morally and physically qualified to perform this important duty for the Tulare county public.
- ◆ LaRose has no outside interests and will devote his FULL TIME to the service of the public.
- ◆ The best economy is full efficiency. State records show that Tulare County District Attorney's Office conducts its business more efficiently and at less cost than any surrounding county of comparable size.
- ◆ Don't be misled by election time promises. Vote for a man who is controlled by no group or faction other than the welfare of the public as a whole. Alcohol is the foundation of 90% of the crime in this district. In addition, narcotic law violators, as they have been in the past, will be prosecuted with a firm hand.
- ◆ Judge Robert K. Meyers, while he was district attorney, openly endorsed LaRose and I am proud to join in so doing.

Mexican Fruit Fly Threat To State

Mexican fruit fly presents a serious menace to the California fruit industry, according to Frank M. Shay, chairman of the state chamber of commerce agricultural committee.

Recently, specimens of the Mexican fruit fly have been discovered in Lower California and along the Mexican border.

Areas throughout southeastern Tulare county have been organized and assigned to specific workers.

Cash received to date for the swimming pool is in excess of $16,000. Something over $6,500 has been paid out for materials; bank balance this week was about $9,500.

The figure of $16,000 raised toward the pool does not include several thousand dollars worth of donated labor and material that has been utilized to date.

Estimated cost of construction, exclusive of donated labor, materials and equipment, is $36,000. The pool can be put into operation, however, if another $10,000 is raised, according to Joe Elliott, manager of the Porterville chamber of commerce and ramrod behind planning and construction of the pool.

All forms were in place and steel reinforcing material was laid last week; crews started Tuesday to gunite the pool, which is located in Porterville's Murry park.

Bob Clark Seeking Office Of County Assessor

R. G. (Bob) Clark is one of the candidates who will be on the ballot for the primary election June 8th. He is seeking the office of county assessor. He has taken a leave of absence from duty as the assistant controller for Tulare county to conduct his own campaign.

In addition to being the assistant controller for the county during the past 3½ years, Mr. Clark worked in the treasurer's office of Tulare county and was supervisor of accounts in the county road department.

He has had 10 years experience in public accounting and business management. He is a university graduate with a degree in business administration and at the present time is a member of the Society of California Accountants.

Mr. Clark says he is fully aware that taxes are high and if elected, he will make every effort to equalize the tax assessments in the county as well as run an economical and efficient office.

For extra activities, Mr. Clark is a member of the American Legion, the Tulare County Peace Officers association and served as the president of the County Employees' association.

Mr. Clark lives in Visalia, is married and has two children.

California this year has 10,900 acres of strawberries, an increase of 1,500 acres over last year.

For state senator from the 32nd district, Incumbent J. Howard Williams is unofficially without opposition, however, the name of Earl Miles, a Democrat, appears on the ballot. Mr. Miles was dropped by his party, however, when he became involved in what appeared to be a blackmail attempt.

Roscoe L. Patterson, incumbent assemblyman from Tulare and Kings counties, is seeking reelection with the backing of several farm and business groups. He is opposed by Myron H. Frew, Dinuba merchant.

Congressman Harlan Hagen, a Democrat, is being given opposition by Al Blain, a Republican; both candidates have crossed.

Principal opposition to reelection of United States Senator Thomas H. Kuchel, a Republican, is coming from Samuel Yorty, a Democratic congressman.

In the county judicial picture, three superior court judges are without opposition: Robert K. Meyers, Frederick E. Stone and W. G. Machetanz.

Malathion Controls Flies In Barns

Malathion has been quite successful in control of flies in dairy barns according to Farm Advisor Maurice J. Hogan, who states that recommended mixture is 1½ pints of 50 per cent malathion plus two pounds of sugar in 10 gallons of water. Corrals should be kept clean of manure to eliminate breeding places for flies, as a control measure.

THANK YOU

My sincere thanks to all who have supported and worked for me in my campaign for re-election. I regret it was not possible for me to see each voter personally but time would not permit... From

Daybell
Nursery

By John

We are called on many times to answer insect problems and recently we've planted some problems of our own. We don't seem to have the same troubles however. Our corn doesn't have worms, it has horses. Blight doesn't get into the tomatoes half as often as the children. These same kids think squash gets its name from being walked on.

We should have some new answers to your problems however, as Walt and I are going to Cal Poly this week for some more nursery schooling — of course one-fourth of this class concerns plants and three-fourths concerns getting an extra dollar out of your customers — so beware!

Now that tomatoes, squash, and melon plants are coming along, be doubly sure to keep them pest-free. If tomatoes aren't setting fruit it may be too much water or too much fertilizer and spraying with Fruitone will help them stick. An all-purpose dust like Pyrethroid or Ortho Vegetable Dust may be used on everything right up to harvest and by starting early, a much better kill is obtained. It's surprising how many insects proper fertilizing will eliminate. A vigorous plant fed the right amount of Vigoro overcomes most diseases before they start.

Corn may be dusted with Pyrethroid two or three times during the month before harvest to discourage ear worms and beans need Nicotine Dust to feed the white fly.

If your plants need anything from Iron to Epsom Salts, come in, we've got it somewhere.
